

At playtime, Suzy and Maz joined in. Foz still wasn't allowed to play, so he sorted the teams out. Then he sat on the wall to watch. He was surprised too. The five girls were quite good.

"You're OK, you know," he said.

"Same again at lunch time?" asked Janey.

"If you like," said Foz.

"They'll get fed up with this," said Sam.

He was wrong. The girls played at lunch time and again in the afternoon. It was the same the next day.

