

Eddie raised his hand and waited until it was not so noisy. "The second bit of news for you," said Eddie, "is that we've fixed up a tournament. All seven first teams in the league will play. We'll have details in time for the next training."

"Wow!" said Danny.

"Brill!" said Foz.

Eddie put up his hand to speak again.

Sam held his breath. If Eddie had agreed to a tournament, he must have found them somewhere to train. He couldn't wait to hear what Eddie would say next.