

Comparing pastimes and everyday life

Background information

French children have similar hobbies to British children. Perhaps, due to the warmer climate, French children may spend more time outdoors. Everyday life is also very similar. School days may differ slightly (eg children do not wear uniform to school). The most beneficial way to compare everyday life is to show video clips of French children to begin discussions. It will most likely develop into a discussion about stereotypes and their inaccuracies (see also Challenging stereotypes, pages 62).

Teaching ideas

- ◆ Revise sports and hobbies. Brainstorm.
- ◆ Discuss similarities and differences in everyday life between France and the United Kingdom.
- ◆ Pupils could mime activities and say what they are doing in French. Alternatively, you could play a game of Jacques dit (Simon Says).
- ◆ Try this hot potato activity. Give each table a large sheet of paper. Each table has two minutes to write as much as they know about the lives of French and English pupils. Pass the sheets around (giving two minutes for each sheet), until each table has written on every sheet. Share and discuss findings.
- ◆ If possible, invite a native speaker/French Learning Assistant in to talk about their hobbies as a child.
- ◆ Pupils could write a postcard home from France detailing the activities they have done, in French.
